It's a Wise Parent

If no one else will do it . . . why not start a discussion group or service club yourselves? Invite adult experts in to help or speak.

Not all adults have poor memories . . . we even remember when we were teen-agers, with all the confusion, rebellions, and imaginings of the young.

Match your spirit of independence with a sense of responsibility, and watch the adults sit up and take notice!

Tips on Turkey for Holiday Use

As turkey time draws near, the busy hostess will think of the hours to be spent in plucking, cleaning and roasting the traditional bird.

However, the advent of the new quick frozen turkey can actually help to eliminate much of the holiday drudgery, and yet guarantee a tender, mouth-watering masterpiece. If the housewife will follow a few simple hints, her frozen bird can turn out a culinary success.

*Get your frozen turkey the day before you want to cook it. It takes one hour per pound to thaw it at room temperature, and five hours per pound in your refrigerator. If your oven has a pilot light, place the un-wrapped turkey in an open baking pan and let it thaw overnight.

Then place the turkey under cold running water long enough to remove any blood from the inside of the bird. Rinse the accumulated drippings from your roaster and place the bird seasoned with salt and pepper (poultry season if desired) in the uncovered roaster in a pre-heated oven, 275-300 degrees, 18 minutes to the pound, or bake 20 minutes to the pound at 350 degrees.

A cloth, large enough to cover the top of the turkey, saturated with bacon fat, butter, your favorite oil, or shortening, produces a soft, tender skin. Baste the turkey several times during the cooking period.

The new trend is to place the stuffing around the turkey so that it has crispness instead of the soggy mess which results when the cavity is filled with dressing. If you dislike basting, cover your turkey with tinfoil and roast until done.

Cook heart, liver, and gizzard separately for gravy and when done, chop fine. When your bird is golden brown, remove it from the roaster and use the drippings for a base.
